To Whom It May Concern:

With this Articulation Notice, the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (UNCG) offers the continuation of 2Plus programs with participating schools in the North Carolina Community College System to serve educational needs in the State of North Carolina and its citizenry.

The Articulation Notice pertains to those North Carolina community college students earning one of the following Associate in Applied Science (A.A.S.) degrees who seek to complete the appropriate Bachelor of Science degree at UNCG. Eligible students transferring to UNCG through the 2Plus program gain advanced transfer standing based on AAS degree and approved departmental course credits towards the major.

This Articulation Notice seeks confirmation from participating parties that programs meet SACS accreditation guidelines. Departmental authorities are asked to review the programs listed below and initial those that are appropriate to continue.

This Articulation Notice should be signed by the College's President and returned to the University Registrar's Office by December 31st, 2009.

Programs that are not marked will be understood as unapproved and students will not be eligible for corresponding 2Plus program advanced transfer standing.

If we do not receive a Notice by January 1st, 2010, UNCG will understand this to mean your institution does not wish to continue participating in the existing 2Plus program. UNCG will then honor prior agreements for those students graduating through May 2010.
