FTCC Instructor Named to Board of Directors for the NC Green Industry Council

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. – February 23, 2010 – Brad Goodrum, a horticulture instructor at Fayetteville Technical Community College and a freelance landscape designer, was elected to the board of directors of the North Carolina Green Industry Council (NCGIC) in January 2010 for a three-year term.

The North Carolina Green Industry Council is an umbrella organization representing over 2,500 firms from other green industry associations within the state. The organization represents green (horticultural) industries as a steward of the environment and an advocate of water conservation and focuses on establishing unity among the diverse segments of North Carolina's green industry on common issues and concerns. More information about the North Carolina Green Industry Council is available at <http://ncgreenindustrycouncil.com>.

Fayetteville Technical Community College was established in 1961 and serves over 34,000 students annually by providing 150 affordable occupational, technical, general education, college transfer, and continuing education programs to meet students' needs and desires as well as the community.
